

Fee Schedule and Good Faith Estimate

Your treatment with me will include an initial evaluation visit and follow up visits based on your need. Treatment may involve psychotherapy and/ or medication management visits.

An initial visit will typically last 45 to 60 minutes. Follow up visits for medication typically last from 10 to 45 minutes, depending on the complexity of the issues being addressed and the extent of time spent in counseling or psychotherapy.

Psychotherapy visits are typically scheduled every one to two weeks. Medication visits, which often include some counseling, treatment planning, or discussions around pressing issues are typically scheduled every two weeks to three months.

Our fee schedule follows.

Initial diagnostic visit $375. The diagnostic code is 90792

Follow up visits are billed according to the complexity of decision making and time spent in counseling and coordination of care. These typically range from $175 to $265, but may be higher.

There may also be additional fees for such things as preparation of reports or letters, extended phone calls, communication with attorneys or disability insurance carriers, prescription refills between appointments, meetings with you and family members or other unforeseen charges.
